Keep the Trains Running

School-level Strategic Planning and Implementation Processes

ROTC Collaborations

College-wide Agenda in Research, Student Affairs, IT Support, and College Operations Generally
Keep Strategic Plan Implementation on Pace
Priority One: (In Motion)

To increase the visibility of Liberal Arts@Tech as a distinctive brand and clarify this expertise in research, education, and community engagement as a “jewel” in the Georgia Tech crown.

Priority Two: (In Motion)

To leverage excellence and increase coherence, vibrancy, and impact for Liberal Arts@Tech in research, education, and engagement through the advancement of strategic transformative initiatives.
IAC’s Strategic Agenda: Phase 1 (2010-2014)

Priority Three: (Constantly Evolving)

To support innovation and excellence in research, education, and engagement by building financial resources; clarifying and refining operational policies, processes, and practices across the college; increasing faculty and staff in support of strategic goals and priorities.
IAC’s Strategic Agenda: Phase 2 (2015-2018)

Priority One:
(Leveraged by annual GT evaluation processes; BOR reviews; IAC metrics)

To document the success and impact of actions related to the Phase 1 agenda by continuing to build identity, visibility and coherence for the IAC’s long-standing strengths and accomplishments as generated over the decades by our academic programs and research centers, and as leveraged by an evolving slate of transformative initiatives.
IAC’s Strategic Agenda: Phase 2 (2015-2018)

Priority Two:

To keep the IAC on a trajectory of excellence and high performance under the banner of “innovation at the crossroads of humanities, social sciences, and technology,” including robust efforts to:

- Advance strategic planning implementation at the school level.
- Strengthen IAC research and curriculum innovation enterprises.
- Strengthen graduate programs and interdisciplinary undergraduate programs.
IAC’s Strategic Plan: Phase 2 (2015-2018)

Priority Three:

• To continue developing and advancing IAC transformative initiatives, with an eye toward expanding the college’s local-global footprint and building reputation in research, education, and public engagement. In addition to the initiatives listed in the Phase 1 Plan, all of which are now generating success, current projects in motion include:

  • The Leadership and Multi-Faith Program
  • The Global Nexus Initiative
    • Global Women’s Entrepreneurship Institute
  • A Civic Engagement Lab
  • A Digital Liberal Arts Center
    (Digital Humanities Studio; Civic Engagement Lab)

The Leading Edge

The Ivan Allen College
Digital Publication Series

http://leading-edge.iac.gatech.edu
Inspired in 2013 by the 125th Anniversary of LiberalArts@Tech, the Ivan Allen College made its first steps toward launching a digital publication series, The Leading Edge

Mission

To showcase the innovative research that we do at Georgia Tech at the intersections of the humanities, social sciences, and technology by sharing in digital format designated examples of some of our most robust, innovative, and cutting edge projects.
Goal

To blaze pathways for excellence in the liberal arts, establishing this knowledge set (humanities, social sciences, technology), expertise, and experience base as critical assets for our highly scientific and technological 21st century world.

Priorities

• Robust displays of human-centered perspectives on societal challenges
• Innovative examples of our dynamic frameworks for understanding the contexts, patterns, impacts, and consequences of innovation, research, and policy
• Projects that highlight innovative models and paradigms for problem-posing, developing integrative analyses, and finding sustainable solutions
• Initiatives that cast light on local challenges and opportunities and connect them over time and space to regional and global contexts
• Projects that demonstrate our logistical expertise in bringing multiple stakeholders together to engage and address common interests and concerns
• Explorations that suggest new frontiers for liberal arts research and education
